FAQ

Do I need a digital wallet?

If you elect to redeem Bonds directly with the Issuer, you will need to have your own digital wallet. The Mandatory Redemption Form will require you to tell us this wallet information in order to process your redemption.

Is there a minimum redemption amount?

In case of redemption directly with the Issuer, you can redeem for as little as one unit of Security, but not less.

How do I determine the amount of cryptocurrency I will receive?

The Issuer will do this for you. The way it is calculated is that each unit of a Security represents an investor's claim to an amount of the Cryptocurrency Entitlement ("CE"). Initially (at date of issue, 2nd February 2022) the CE of the Bond was 0.4 ATOM per Bond at launch, but it then diminishes at a yearly rate of 1.95% (accrued daily), which represents the management fee of the Issuer.

How long does it take to redeem my Bonds with the Issuer?

Before the actual redemption and exchange process can start, we need to perform CDD/AML checks. Confirmation of a valid redemption request follows the completion of these checks. Additionally, your Bonds must be returned to the Issuer before the redemption request as a whole can be validated. This process could take 1-2 weeks depending on how quickly you are able to return your Bonds and complete the identification process. Once the Mandatory Redemption Form has been fully validated, redemption of the Bonds and transfer of the cryptocurrency to your digital wallet will be effected as soon as practicable, but under all circumstances within the time-frame of a normal settlement/transfer cycle of the cryptocurrency on its relevant blockchain network plus 30 days.

How will the redemption and exchange of Bonds for cryptocurrency be taxed?

You must get your own advice on specific tax circumstances, including VAT, stamp duty, capital gains, etc. The Issuer does not advise on any action based on its opinions stated within this document, and we recommend seeking tax advice from a professional in the relevant jurisdiction.
